Editorial

July already, hasn't this year flown! Another full on day at the shows back in June, but hopefully everyone had an enjoyable day. The judge's critique is in this issue of the magazine.

In this issue are also the photos from each show, as well as the other usual bits and pieces. The Snow Dogs Match Day, always a great show, is to be held on the 25th of November.

As usual, please be sending in your photos, stories, and interesting articles. They make a fantastic addition to the magazine and it's wonderful getting to hear the tales of and see photos of what everyone's Sams (or the owners) are up to!

Gone But Not Forgotten

Ch Angara Kinda Windy

My lovely big white bear didn't quite make it to his 16th birthday. Kinda Man with his cheeky sense of humour is very sadly missed.

Rescue Samoyed Success!

If anyone heard about the young Samoyed bitch from the pound looking for a home, well she's now got one! Here's a note from this lucky girl's new family:

We have adopted a beautiful rescue Samoyed. We have named her "Pearl". Our seven year old son is fast becoming a very good doggie daddy and we take her for walks on most days. We are also taking Pearl to obedience school to get her to calm down in the presence of our kitty cats. In the beginning, she seemed to think they were nibble toys, but over the last few weeks, she has come to just bark to "say hello". (The cats still don't like her "hellos" and scatter in her presence, but at least she only barks once instead of a barking festival upon first view)!

Our older Black Lab/German Shepherd mix has become fast friends with her and they are now playing and sleeping together.

We love her!

Judge's Critique

BABY PUPPY DOG:

KURSHARN VINTAGE-VANTAGE: Well boned 5 ½ month old puppy with good length of leg. Good expression overall, nice thick ears. Also has a good tail set, good textured coat for a baby & shows good reach & drive.

KURSHARN VINTAGE-VOYAGER AT SAMHAIN: Another nice type overall with good boning & length of leg. Shorter in body than the 1st puppy but still showed good expression, similar coat texture & good angulation.

PUPPY DOG:

ZAMINKA THAT COOL CAT: A very well boned puppy that has lovely expression, small dark eye & small ear. Tail set is good & coat is thick with good texture. Well shaped feet & moved well.

LEALSAM DANCE IN THE DARK: Overall a very nice puppy with good length of body (not short or too long), length of leg is good but needs a little more neck. Expression is also good with small eyes & ears. Excellent coat. Movement not quite as good as the 1st puppy.

JUNIOR DOG:

OSCARBI EVEREDI BOY: Very nice type of dog with great expression, small eyes but could be a bit darker but are quite acceptable. Good length of neck going into well laid shoulders. I would like a fraction more leg but has good angulation, good coat texture. (Junior coat). Paced in the class but showed his true movement in the Challenge line up. Very promising young dog.

INTERMEDIATE DOG:

CH.SUNSHINE TRI TEDDY: Good size dog with a terrific coat. Expression good with a lovely dark eye but a slightly shorter muzzle would balance the head better. Nice overall balance with good length of leg which have great shaped feet. A little down in pastern but still showed good reach & drive.

NZ BRED DOG:

CH.ZAMINKA POWER SUNRISE: 5 ½ yr old boy with lovely expression, good almond shaped eye, small thick ears. Excellent coat, good tail set, lovely length of leg & good overall balance. Showed good reach & drive without exaggeration.

CH.OSCARBI IM- A-BARK STAR: Another lovely type of dog but could do with a fraction more leg for overall balance. Good head balance, would prefer slightly darker eye but eye shape is good. One of the best coats so far today. Feet not as good in shape to the previous dog.

Angulation overall is good but front movement not as sound as I would like.

LEALSAM SETS A STYLE: This boy also has lovely qualities but obviously likes his food. Has an excellent dense coat with good harsh outer coat. Boning is good with good length of leg under the coat. Head & expression is good but would like broader skull to balance the head & needs more neck. Length of body is good, tail set good & reasonable feet. Movement? I would like to see this dog with a little less weight.

VETERAN DOG:

NZ AUST.CH.ANAKY ITS PARTY TIME (IMP.AUST.): Well what a nice 11yr old boy he is. Lovely well balanced head with great expression. Good overall balance with good boning, great angulation. Best feet so far today. Good quality coat for an oldie & good size boy.

OPEN DOG:

CAN.&AM.&ENG&NZ GR.CH.VANDERBILTS' ONE COOL CAT (Imp. Can): This boy is a not just a showman. He is a very well balanced dog with great boning without being too heavy. Carries a very thick coat with good texture & lovely biscuit shading. Expression is good but would like more depth in the skull, good eye shape & small ears. Good length of neck into well laid shoulders, excellent angulation, effortless movement & the best I have seen today. Just a lovely dog all round.

GR.CH. LEALSAM HUGO BOSS: Another lovely type with great expression. I did prefer the eyes on this boy to no. 1. Coat is of excellent quality, good overall angulation, feet & tail set. Balance is good & shows good reach & drive.

CH.BLUEAEGEAN LEVENTIS FROM SNOWSAPPHIRE (IMP.UK): This dog has a pretty head but not quite as strong as 1 & 2. Has very good boning & angulation but a fraction long in body. Coat quality is excellent with a lovely tail set & good feet. Movement let him down today.

Challenge: 11 Reserve Challenge: 5

BABY PUPPY BITCH:

KURSHARN VINTAGE-VAMP: Typical baby puppy just coming into coat. Lovely overall balance with good length of neck & leg, great angulation. Head is good but would like a more almond shaped eye. Movement is good showing good reach & drive.

PUPPY BITCH:

LEALSAM JUST DANCE: Lovely sized puppy with good boning, length of leg, coat, beautiful tail set & length of tail. Well balanced head for her age with great expression, small dark eyes & small ears. Angulation is very good, has good feet & moves very well.

ZAMINKA COOL BREEZE: This young lady is also of a good size with good boning & length of leg, feet are slightly better shape than no. 1. Good expression with small eyes & still to broaden out across the skull which will come in time. Overall balance is good & also shows good movement.

KELLJASS WINTER-FAIRY-TALE: Very pretty girl with a lovely head & expression, small dark eyes, small ears. Would like more leg but has good angulation. Coat is of good quality. Movement not as sound as 1 & 2.

JUNIOR BITCH:

CH.ZAMINKA BELLE O TH BALL: A very happy girl who showed excellent expression. Would like more leg & angulation is good. Boning ok. Not in good coat today but is typical for age. Shows good reach & drive.

CH.LEALSAM MISS COVER GIRL: Preferred the size of this girl & overall balance but the head not quite as balanced as the 1st girl. Excellent full quality coat. Has good length of leg & good bone but movement let her down today.

NZ BRED BITCH:

CH.ZAMINKA MAGIC MOMENTS: My type of girl. Lovely well balanced head with the correct almond shaped eye & small ears, giving excellent expression. Balance is very good with excellent boning & length of leg. Great feet. Coat is of excellent quality, short & thick with great outer texture. Movement is good but would like to have seen her move out more.

CH.ANGARA SNEAKING ME KISSES: A slightly taller bitch with good boning & well shaped feet. Overall balance of head is good but would like a broader muzzle. Good body on this girl. Coat is good. Angulation is good & movement slightly better than no. 1. Preferred the type of no. 1

CH.SAMHAIN ECHO'N T WITH KURSHARN: Lovely expression on this girl with good small almond shaped eye & small ears. Boning not as strong as other 2. Good length of neck, overall balance is good with a great tail set. Coat is excellent. Best feet in class. Movement good but a bit out of condition.

VETERAN BITCH:

CH.SUNSHINE PAINT ME GOLD: 8 Yr old girl still has it. Good expression but would like a smaller eye. Lovely front with good boning & shaped feet. Overall size & balance is good, still moves well. Good full coat.

CH.ANGARA TAIZA TALE: 12 Yr old girl loved being in the ring today. Good angulation & still up on pastern. Great boning. Good size but long in body. Head not as well balanced as no. 1. Still shows good reach.

OPEN BITCH:

CH.ANGARA DANCING WITH THE STARS: Great overall balance. Good front, would like thicker boning. Expression is good with correct shape eye & small thick ears. Good length of neck. Not in full coat today. Movement is good showing good reach & drive.

AUST.CH.SNOWBROOK SPIRIT OF INNOCENCE (IMP AUST): Lovely headed bitch showing terrific expression. Good small dark almond eye, great small thick ears. Boning is better than no. 1 but is slightly longer in body. Good overall angulation. Coat is of good quality. Movement is very close behind.

CH.OSCARBI FUTURE EXCITEMENT AT CARRIDENE: A small bitch, head not as well balanced as no.1 & 2. Very showy though. Boning is good for her size, coat is lovely, tail set excellent. Angulation is good but movement not good in the front.

Challenge Bitch: 15 Reserve Bitch Challenge: 2

GENERAL

I would like to thank the Committee for inviting me to judge your show. I had a wonderful time exploring Wellington & then catching up with everyone after the show.

Overall I found the quality of your dogs to be very good & that your coats were of excellent texture, showing the silvertips. Type is slightly varied which you would expect with the introduction of new blood.

One of the main problems I can see is with your fronts with some backend movement being too close. One of the good things I found was the height of your dogs with length of leg. This was more in the majority than the minority. Also the consistency with your good shaped feet. There were a few that could have been better but there is no such thing as the "perfect dog".

In my judging, I was looking for Type, the overall balance of the dog showing good expression, having good quality coat & good reach & drive.

Congratulations to all the winners.

Regards

X-Linked PRA Test

For: Samoyed and Siberian Husky

The OptiGen XL-PRA test is a DNA-based test that provides, for the first time, a method to unequivocally identify the X-Linked form of Progressive Retinal Atrophy (XL-PRA) in the Siberian Husky and the Samoyed. This will control the gene frequency in the breed so as to prevent producing puppies affected with the disease.

normals," such females can pass only the normal gene on to all their pups--which means that none of their pups can ever be affected with XL-PRA. These "clear" females can be bred to any male dog, even to a XL-PRA-affected dog, which may be a desirable breeding prospect for other reasons.

Normally, the vision receptors in the eyes undergo a continual process of replacement and renewal. But with PRA this process slows and, one day, stops. The night vision receptors are the first to fail, and then, a while later, day vision starts to degenerate.

XL-PRA is a "late-onset" form of PRA. It usually isn't until dogs are three to five years old that the first clinical signs of disease start to manifest. Indeed, deterioration can happen as early as five months of age--but no one notices it. Eventually, though, dog owners see that their pet's eyes have taken on a characteristic "shine." The pupils become increasingly dilated in the attempt to let in yet more light. Dogs develop "tunnel vision." It's like trying to look at the world through a narrow tube.

What's different about the XL form of PRA? First, remember that females have two X--or female--chromosomes. In genetic shorthand, that's XX. Males have one X and one Y, or XY. It's the Y that makes males male.

In XL-PRA, the defective gene for PRA is a recessive trait that is situated on the X chromosome. Females who inherit a defective gene on the X chromosome from one parent and a normal gene on the X from the other parent won't be affected. They will be carriers with partial retinal defects. These defects are so subtle that vision is not affected. Nonetheless, carriers silently pass the defective gene on to future generations.

With males it's a little different. A male pup with a carrier dam is going to get either a defective gene or a normal gene, depending on which copy of the X chromosome his carrier dam gives him. And if it's the defective gene, the dog will be affected. With X-linked diseases such as XL-PRA, there's no such thing as a male carrier. That's why male Huskies or Samoyeds are much likelier to be affected than females.

Reliable identification of female dogs that do not carry disease genes is the key to controlling diseases that are X-linked, that is, located on the X (sex) chromosome. The OptiGen XL-PRA test enables 100% accurate identification of these dogs. Called "genetically clear," "noncarriers" or, more formally, "homozygous

Because the OptiGen XL-PRA test is a direct mutation-based gene test, it accurately and specifically identifies normal/clear dogs, carriers (heterozygous dogs) and affecteds. Possible test results are listed in the table below.

Possible results for a Siberian Husky or Samoyed using the XL-PRA test
Test Result*	Genotype of Dog Tested	Significance for Breeding	Risk For Developing
N	Normal	Normal females can be bred to any male. Normal males should be bred only to normal females.	Will never develop XL-PRA
C	Carrier	Carrier females should not be bred. Only females are carriers of XL-PRA.	Will never develop XL-PRA
A	Affected	Affected males should be bred only to normal females. Affected females should not be bred. They are rare since both copies must be	Has or will develop XL-PRA
*This is the result that will be reported by the OptiGen XL-PRA test.

Other Conditions Mistaken for PRA

Not all vision loss in Huskies and Samoyeds is caused by XL-PRA. There are reports of acquired (not inherited) retinal changes that have been mistakenly diagnosed as PRA. Since the DNA test for XL-PRA is completely accurate and specific, it can be used to differentiate the inherited form of PRA from the acquired retinal abnormality. A dog clinically diagnosed with an acquired retinal abnormality that is similar to PRA will not test affected for XL-PRA.

Breeding Recommendations

- To avoid producing XL-PRA, only Clear/Normal females should be bred.
- Neither Carrier nor Affected females should be used because affected progeny can result.
- Clear/Normal males bred to Clear/Normal females will produce all Clear/Normal pups.
- Affected males bred to Clear/Normal females will produce males that are all Clear/Normal and females that are all Carriers.

It is not possible to have a Carrier male since males have only one X chromosome and that one X will have either a normal or a mutant copy, but not both.

The following table highlights all the desirable breedings that will not produce affected pups. These breedings include a female parent proven "normal" by the OptiGen XL-PRA test. All other breedings are at risk of producing XL-PRA-affected pups. It isn't necessary-or even desirable-to remove any male dog from the breeding population. But when choosing pups to retain as further potential breeding stock, it is important to select for dogs proven "normal" by the OptiGen XL-PRA test. Pups can be tested to distinguish carriers from normals as soon as they are old enough to have a small blood sample collected.

Expected results for breeding strategies using the OptiGen XL-PRA mutation test
Male Parent	Female Parent
	XnXn = Normal	XnXa = Carrier	XaXa = Affected
XnY = Normal	All Males & Females are Normal	1/2 of Females - Normal 1/2 of Females - Carrier 1/2 of Males - Normal 1/2 of Males -	All Females - Carrier All Males - Affected
XaY = Affected	All Females - Carrier All Males - Normal	1/2 of Females - Carrier 1/2 of Females - Affected 1/2 of Males - Normal 1/2 of Males - Affected	All Males & Females are Affected

Shaded boxes show the only recommended breeding pairs in order to avoid producing affected pups.

Xn is an X chromosome with a normal PRA gene.
Xa is an X chromosome with a mutant (affected) PRA disease gene.

The OptiGen XL-PRA test has been extensively tested in Siberian Huskies and Samoyeds descended from different ancestors of the U.S. breeding population. The test is not currently applicable to other breeds of dogs.

How you can participate...

The XL-PRA Test is done on a small sample of blood obtained by your veterinarian. This allows the lowest risk of contamination of the sample and added assurance of a match of the sample with the identified dog.

Read and print the instructions on the Ship Sample page. Then fill out the Test Request Form. On-line submission of the Test Request Form lets you be sure accurate information and correct spellings are put in the database. And, when you've completed one Form, a second Test Request Form for another dog or for a litter is easy and saves you time.

This research couldn't have been done without the great support of the Siberian Husky Club of America, The Morris Animal Foundation, The Seeing Eye, The American Kennel Club Canine Health Foundation, The National Eye Institute of the National Institutes of Health, and The Foundation Fighting Blindness.
