Recommendations and Findings

4th World Samoyed Meeting

Use of Transcervical Insemination over Surgical Insemination as a better success rate (20%) and not so invasive

- Mate when low estrogen and high progesterone
- Insert between 100M and 200M sperm per insemination.
- Insert slowly over 10 minutes
- Quality of sperm important to success
- No difference in results if straws or pellets are used
- Can't stop absorption of puppies
- Freezing can affect the DNA of sperm
- Don't progesterone supplement as it can increase risk to Pyrometra and Diabetes
- Use Oxytocin (injection) during whelping to stimulate contractions and let down milk
- Use Oxytocin (nasal spray) post whelping to improve mothering bond
- Not much difference using Goats or Cows for puppy weaning
- Not one rule fits all for desexing bitches or dogs.
- A lot of debate around when best to desex.
- 6 – 8 weeks vs less than 6 months vs later vs not at all
- Best to desex around 18 months.
- Growth plates normally close between 8 – 10 months
- Desexing delays the closure of growth plates.
- Desexed pups are leggy, don't fill out and can have problems with hip dysphasia.
- Desexing does not cause fat adults but can cause incontinence in bitches
- When desexing best to have a long incision
- The wound heals L to R not along incision
- Unclear if desexing reduces the risk of mammary tumours.
- Desexing increases risk of prostate cancer.
- Desexing does not change behaviour.
- Temperament is genetic.

Eye Diseases – Chloe Hardman

Recommendations and Findings

Most common problem is distichia with 1 to 4 lashes touching the eye

Also problems with:

- Corneal Lipid Deposits at the front of the eye
- Retinal Dysplasia in the form of Giant Retinal Folds

- Star Cataracts at the back of the eye
- Glycoma from a build up of pressure in the eye due to poor drainage angles and retention of fluid.
- Dry Eye which can be hormonal or a blockage
- Indolent Corneal Ulcers which just don't heal without surgery

Normal healthy Eyes:

- Pupils respond to light
- Eye surface wet and shiny
- Window to back of eye is clear and bright
- Eye whites are white
- Menace respond
- Lens soft and bendy when young
- Lens less flexible with age and also layers over lens which impact vision.
- Trouble jumping down
- Bashes head on walls and doors
- Can't see you at park
- Poor night Vision

NEVER seen or heard of PRA is a Samoyed in Australia or New Zealand.

The Breed Standard – Christina Chapman

This was a fun talk with audience participation explaining the evolution of the Samoyed breed standard.

- Sharp piercing bark so they could be heard for miles
- Height restriction to be able to run under the bellies of reindeer.
- Long nose, hair inside ears and between toes, fluffy coat and flexible tail all to help survive extremely cold climate
- Dark eye rims to absorb light away from eyes.

Recent Pack Walk

Pack Walk 24th May - Hutt river trail

A lovely autumn afternoon for a walk along the Hutt River trail from Belmont to Melling. Phoebe was very pleased to see her Samoyed friends from around the region.

The usual off leash team headed for the river at every opportunity to enjoy splashing about, with a couple of barkers letting everyone know how much fun they were having. Phoebe spent most of the time flirting with the young boys, Kimba and Sonny.

Next Pack Walk

On the Kapiti Coast at Queen Elizabeth Park on Sunday 26th July, meet and greet at 2.00 pm and walking at 2.15 pm.

Thanks to everyone that has saved their Samoyed fur for us! Currently looking for a place to card it... I'm keen to learn how to spin it for knitting and have been loaned a spinning wheel.

This will be an ongoing project so please do keep fur until I can collect ~ clean brushings preferred. I'll be making a donation to the Sam Care fund for your efforts.
